The God of Abraham...

JUST LIKE LAST SUNDAY, our gospel this week is foiled by a story from the life of Abraham, depicted in the book of Genesis. In the account of Abraham's intercession for the great and wicked cities of Sodom and Gomorrah, a thread that runs through the whole of his story is picked up.

In the religious context of his day, the gods were primarily attached to specific works and powers, specific fields of influence, whether that be the god of a nation, the god of the harvest, the god of the air or water, and so on. Power (or apparent power) over these things was what demonstrated divinity. But in the story of Abraham, God doesn't show himself in these ways. He doesn't reveal himself to Abraham as the lord of the harvest or the god of fertility. He is Abraham's God. This God is the God of a person. And what this means is that for those he chooses, this God is not restricted to a particular sphere of influence, he is not restricted by boundaries or realms. Because he is the God of a person, he has power wherever that person is, wherever he goes – the God of Abraham is not limited by space in any way. And not only that, but in the way he has related to Abraham, offering him things which are to come, this God demonstrates a sway over time as well. Neither time nor space are limitations to him. In this way, the God of Abraham shows himself to be the Lord of all and that all things come under his purview.

Hence why Abraham can be so bold to pray in the way that he does. And hence why Jesus teaches us to pray in the way that he does. What both are demonstrating to us is that because God is a God of persons, of individual lives that he cares about, and that his power is thus limited by neither time nor place, that he can and will act in the best interest of those who cry to him, without restriction. We can go to him with confidence, knocking on his door with persistence, even be so bold as to barter with him as Abraham does, because he has shown himself to be one who not only cares about our lot, but who's power to help us is without limit.

All this is captured in the wonderful prayer that the Lord gave us. In it, we call God "father," and are thus invited to relate to him personally; we ask (or rather, the original has us demanding) that his rule in our life is secured; our daily sustenance is assured and the basic necessities looked after; and that provision is made for our moral failings and weaknesses. Praying in this way draws us into the way in which Jesus himself, the Son of God, relates to his Father. We can do so confidently since, as scripture so wonderfully assures us, the God we pray to hears us, is interested in us, and pledges to look after us in our every need.

Wishing you a blessed week ahead,

Fr Tom

POPE LEO'S

Prayer Intention for July

For formation in discernment

"Let us pray that we might again learn how to discern, to know how to choose paths of life, and reject everything that leads us away from Christ and the Gospel."

From Pope Leo...

"X" post dated
20 July

"To our beloved Middle Eastern Christians I say: I deeply sympathise with your feeling that you can do little in the face of this grave situation. You are in the heart of the Pope and of the whole Church. Thank you for your witness of faith. May the Virgin Mary, woman of the Levant, dawn of the new Sun that has risen in history, protect you always and accompany the world towards the dawn of peace."

Saint of the Week

30 July - St Justin de Jacobis (1800 - 1860), Bishop

Justin was born in Italy in 1800. He joined the Vincentians (Lazarists) and later was sent to Abyssinia (Ethiopia-Eritrea) as a missionary. He studied the local language and culture and slowly developed a special love for the Abyssinian traditions which he used in his missionary ministry. Made bishop in 1849, De Jacobis worked hard for the formation of the Catholic Church, establishing a seminary together with Blessed Ghebre Michael, and ordaining several priests. He died in Eritrea on 31 July 1860. His missionary methodology, rooted in inculturation, is both a legacy and a challenge for missionaries today.

Information: Universalis

“Quote of the Week”

“It is a bigger miracle to eject passion from your own body than it is to eject an evil spirit from another’s body. It is a bigger miracle to be patient and refrain from anger than it is to control the demons which fly through the air.”

St John Cassian
(360 - 433)
Abbot

Did You Know...?

...that the Lord’s Prayer is sometimes prayed with a doxology at the end by some people, most especially Anglicans and Lutherans?

The doxology is made up of the words, “For the kingdom, the power, and the glory are yours, now and for ever. Amen.” These words are not scriptural but found in an early Christian catechetical document from the first century called the Didache, known also as The Teaching of the Twelve Apostles.
