A Binary Choice?

QUITE OFTEN in our lives, usually without giving it a lot of thought, we are presented with a binary choice – making a choice of one thing over another. For the most part, these choices are without dire consequences and may simply involve selecting between two goods, or between two innocuous entities.

This weekend's Gospel is the famous story of Jesus visiting the home of the two sisters of Lazarus, Mary and Martha, where we witness Mary sitting at the feet of Jesus whilst Martha concentrates on the hospitality side of things, clearly upset at her sister not assisting her to attend to the needs of their esteemed guest and friend. In terms of a binary choice, here we see a choice to be either active (Martha) or contemplative (Mary). From the text, it appears that Jesus is making a choice for the contemplative, telling Martha that Mary has chosen "the better part".

Yet, as so often the case in studying scripture, it is not that simple! We must remember that Jesus, as was customary of his race at the time, spoke in absolutes, not comparatives. Think, for example, when Jesus spoke of gouging out one's eye or cutting off one's hand, in order to avoid sin and the consequences of eternal punishment (Matthew 5:29-30). Jesus is not expecting us to do these things but rather wants to emphasise the importance of serious discipleship.

Though less dramatic, we have a similar approach in this Sunday's Gospel. Jesus is not telling us that our lives should be dedicated solely to contemplation of the divine, like Mary in the Gospel, for such an approach does not lead to any active service of the Gospel, an essential part of true discipleship. Clearly, Mary is taking the opportunity presented by the presence of Jesus, to learn from him and bathe in his glory, but this is not to say that Martha's activity is without value or meaning. We would probably all agree that at that moment, Mary chose "the better part" and can imagine ourselves, in similar circumstances, doing the same thing.

Yet, contemplation must lead to something concrete. For hundreds of years clericalism was reinforced by putting on a pedestal those who lived the contemplative life, the educated elite, priests and religious. Hopefully, those days are behind us, (though not without a struggle, it would seem), and we understand the important priestly calling of every baptised person to a life which is both contemplative and active. For the Christian, no good and holy action can truly emerge except from prayer, and prayer cannot be divorced from an active response. In essence, prayer leads to action, which leads back to prayer, and so on. It is a holy dynamic, the aspiration of all people of faith, not least of all disciples of Jesus.

As I mentioned at the beginning of this little piece, we are often presented with a binary choice. This is not the case, however, when it comes to contemplation and action – we need to choose both. We cannot afford to bask in the luxury of contemplation without allowing the fruits of our prayer to be manifested in action. Likewise, any acts of charity divorced from prayer become social work, which presents us with the danger of burnout, disconnected as it is from the One who is the source of all charity and disinterested love.

May each of us discover, and make manifest, both the Mary and the Martha we were created to be.

Wishing you a blessed week ahead,

Fr Robert

OPEN ARMS OF ST PATRICK'S PARISH

Our parish community is trying to do just one small thing to help one family, to offer not just material support and some stability, but also to be Christ to them, to offer them acceptance, a warm welcome, and the dignity the Church teaches us should be afforded to every human being, regardless of who they are.

May we remember Christ's words in Matthew 25: "I was hungry...thirsty...a stranger...naked...sick...in prison...". May our response be always to alleviate the suffering of our sisters and brothers.

The fundraising is well underway: nearly 30% achieved in two weeks. The international refugee situation is urgent: every day counts for people in a desperate situation. Please support the parish's efforts through the QR code.

POPE LEO'S

Prayer Intention for July

For formation in discernment

"Let us pray that we might again learn how to discern, to know how to choose paths of life, and reject everything that leads us away from Christ and the Gospel."

From Pope Leo...

"X" post dated
13 July

"Looking without walking by, halting the frantic pace of our lives, allowing the lives of others, whoever they may be, with their needs and troubles, to touch our heart. That is what makes us neighbours to one another, what generates true fraternity and breaks down walls and barriers."

Saint of the Week

24 July - Blessed Maria Mercedes Prat (1880 - 1936), Martyr

Mercedes Prat was born on 06 March, 1880, in Barcelona, baptised on the following day, and made her First Holy Communion on 30 June, 1890. From her childhood she gave herself completely to God, whom she received every day in Communion. She displayed a great love for her neighbour and tried to foster this kind of love in others. During her years in school, she was known for her goodness and her dedication to school work, excelling especially in painting and needlework, which were areas in which she had a natural talent. Entering the novitiate of the Society of Saint Teresa of Jesus in 1904, in Tortosa, she made her temporary profession in 1907. She was a religious according to the heart of God: prudent and truthful, calm and gentle in her reactions, having a natural goodness in all her dealing with others, but firm in character. God was her one love, and her love for God kept growing to the point where she would give her life for him. In 1920 she was assigned to the motherhouse in Barcelona. From there the path to martyrdom began on 19 July, 1936, when the community was forced to give up the school and flee. On 23 July, because she was a religious, Sr Mercedes was arrested and shot; she died in the early morning of 24 July.

“Quote of the Week”

“Let us also arm our right hand with the sword of the Spirit, so that it may bravely reject the sacrifices of death; so that this right hand which receives the body of the Lord, may, mindful of the eucharist, embrace him, and afterwards may receive the prize of the heavenly crown from the Lord.”

St Cyprian of Carthage
(c.210 - 258)
Bishop, Theologian and Martyr

Did You Know...?

...that the name Mary (Mariam) was a popular name for Palestinian women at the time of Jesus?

According to Wikipedia, “A common Roman Catholic tradition includes six New Testament saints called Mary: Mary, mother of Jesus; Mary Magdalene; Mary, mother of James and Joses; (Mary) Salome (who is also identified as the mother of James and John, the sons of Zebedee); Mary of Clopas; and, Mary of Bethany, sister of Martha and Lazarus.”
